JAMIE DOUGLAS

RICHMOND

VIRGINIA

I, Jamie Douglas (1988 — present, hopefully) am an artist living in Richmond, VA. Born in Binghamton NY, I attended the Rochester Institute of Technology for illustration, graphic design and creative writing. Upon graduating in 2010, I moved south to Richmond, and have held a dizzying array of unrelated jobs ever since. To name a few: graphic artist at an event production company, sales clerk at a venerable art supply store, assistant manager at a sandwich shop, caricature artist at an amusement park, a three year stint in the film industry designing sets for movies and TV shows. All the while I've participated in many local gallery shows, done freelance design/illustration and a year of weekly comics for a local newspaper. Not to mention making many a stupid zine, oil paintings of cartoon monsters and filling up endless sketchbooks. Personal motto: Keep your Pen Moving.
