SOUTH CAROLINA

Olivia Humphrey Brewington was born in 1974 in Plymouth England. Her family moved to Spartanburg South Carolina at age 2. She was trained by Curtis Harley, a local Spartanburg artist in her early years. Her focus was on watercolor and charcoal. She went on to win many awards throughout her junior high and high school years. She graduated with a BA degree in Studio Art from the College of Charleston in 1997. There she studied under professor Michael Tyzak and Michael Phillips where her focus was oil painting. Following graduation, she painted portraits as a hobby. After working for many years in a bank, she decided to focus on her art and her family. Her passion for art and self-expression has led her to this moment. Olivia works with acrylic and oils using both brush and palette knife techniques.
